Asbestos trials delayed

EDWARDSVILLE — The elevation of several judges to higher posts will mean a delay in the remainder of 2,200 asbestos cases filed in Madison County.

According to Chief Circuit Judge P.J. O'Neill, one trial will begin in January, but no more will be held until at least April. He said there are not enough judges to handle these cases and the normal caseload.

O'Neill said Circuit Judge Paul Riley will begin hearing the next asbestos case.

Three cases have been decided so far, with the asbestos companies winning two of them.

On Thursday, Caseyville resident Charles Hastings lost a case against seven companies which manufactured asbestos-containing material. The week before, a Jerseyville man lost a similar case.

The first asbestos trial, which ended in late November, resulted in a $2.5 million award to a retired East Alton man.

In the Nov. 8 elections, Circuit

Judges Charles Chapman and Philip Rarick were elected to the Fifth District Appellate Court in Mount Vernon and Circuit Judge Horace Calvo, who had been assigned to the appellate court, was elected to the Illinois Supreme Court.

Appointments to fill the vacancies will be made by the Supreme Court in January.

G.C. Steel mill worker loses asbestos lawsuit

EDWARDSVILLE — The third of more than 2,200 asbestos suits filed in Madison County has ended with a decision against a Caseyville man who claimed exposure to the material has created health problems for him.

Of the three cases tried so far, damages have been awarded only in one, the first.

A jury at the Madison County courthouse in Edwardsville found in favor of seven defendants in a suit filed by Charles Hastings, 47, of Caseyville.

Hastings, who has been an employee of Granite City Steel for the past 24 years, claimed exposure to asbestos has caused damage to his lungs. The steel mill was not a defendant in the suit.

The jury deliberated 3½ hours before announcing its decision.

All the defendants were manufacturers of products containing asbestos.

IP rate delay upsets both sides

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

SPRINGFIELD — For the third time, the Illinois Commerce Commission has delayed its decision on the Illinois Power electric rate increase.

The ICC, on Dec. 21, extended its deadline six more months, although promising to try for a decision by March 31. The ICC said its hearing examiner needs more time to prepare his recommendation.

The ICC's original schedule called for a decision in October, then delayed it until December and again until Jan. 31.

"Well, the good news is that it's that much longer before people have to start paying any increase," said Tim Earley of the Illinois Public Action Council in Edwardsville.

Earley said Friday that he had received a letter from the ICC announcing the delay, but didn't "know what to make of it."

"It's a rather disturbing development. It seems to say there will be additional hearings starting Jan. 3. I hope we are not starting the whole process over again."

L. Ron Daine, IP's Granite City service area manager, said the company was disappointed.

"We were expecting a rate increase in late October. Now the wait could be as much as eight or nine months. Obviously we thought we needed the increase or we wouldn't have asked for it."

"Any month of delay is detrimental to the financial well-being of the company," Earley said the fact the ICC had recently granted Commonwealth Edison in Chicago a rate increase is a bad signal to ratepayers here.

"It seems unlikely they would play Santa with one and Scrooge with the other," he said.

Earley said that there were a lot of similarities between the two cases and that the Com Ed case would probably ultimately be decided by the ICC.

"The commission staff itself came out against an increase, in fact recommended a decrease and a few months later did a 360 (degree) turn."

Daine said it was "really hard to say" what the Com Ed decision meant because the situations were "totally different."

Earley said the Com Ed increase might not have been as much as they company wanted, but it was still an increase and he expected the same type of decision concerning IP.

"I could be wrong. If I am I'll wear sack-cloth and ashes for a week. I'll scream that I was wrong from the highest building in Madison County," Earley said.

Daine said he understood the problem was the workload of the ICC.

"It's my understanding the hearing officer, who has to draft an order, asked for the extension because he needed more time to sort through the vast quantity of information already collected," Daine said.

"Certainly we want him to take the time to understand the facts."

Fitness trail planned for 1989

Several local organizations will combine efforts to establish a fitness trail encircling Wilson Park. A committee of civic and local officials has been formed to help make the proposal a reality. Plans call for using memorial gifts to the park and other contributions to build an 8-foot-wide trail surface with a 6-inch depth. Details of the campaign are to be outlined within a few weeks.

Hagnauer named to transit board

Madison County Board Chairman and Granite City Township Supervisor Nelson Hagnauer was named to replace William Haine on the Madison County Transit District Board. Members of the transit board are nominated by the County Board chairman and confirmed by a vote of the full board.

Costello plans town meetings

U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello, (D-21st District), will begin the new year by holding 10 town meetings throughout his district. The first area meeting will be held at 10 a.m. Jan. 7 at the Madison Recreation Center, Seventh and Lee streets, Madison.

50 years ago

Thursday, Dec. 29, 1938
Dr. James W. "Big Jim" Kramer of Denver, Colo., considered to be the "Billy Sunday" of today, arrived in town to begin a two-week evangelistic crusade at the First Baptist Church beginning New Year's Sunday.

Tip of the hat

Dottie Farrell

Santa's helper

The Journal gives its tip of the hat to Dottie Farrell of Pontoon Beach. She is the organizer and an active participant in an annual toy drive for children in the Pontoon Beach area. She began the drive six years ago. At left, she carefully gift wraps the toys before delivery. More than 165 children received the toys this year. The new and like-new toys came from donations from area individuals and organizations.

State economic forecast mixed

SPRINGFIELD — Incomes will be slightly higher for Illinois residents over the next year, but job growth in the state may be sluggish, University of Illinois economists have forecast.

The latest annual economic outlook by the U-I economists predicted personal income in Illinois should rise by 7 percent next year, compared to an expected 5 percent inflation rate.

That would be in contrast to this year when personal income grew 3.6 percent and inflation was 4.5 percent, a drop in real earnings.

The state's jobless rate will continue to be higher than the national average, however, the university economists projected.

They anticipate total non-farm employment in Illinois will expand by less than a 10th of one percent next year, with gains in wholesale and retail trade, banking, insurance and real estate slightly making up for continued job losses in manufacturing, mining, utilities and transportation.

The economists also projected continued modest increases in farm income next year if weather conditions return to normal and there is not a repeat of this year's drought. Higher prices and other factors should produce a rise in crop acreage in 1989, they projected.

Children get holiday cheer from Old Newsboys funds

By Lucyann Boston

Residents of the St. Louis metropolitan area began the holiday season by opening their hearts and their wallets to area children as never before on Old Newsboys Day.

Sales of the special edition of the Suburban Journals on Nov. 17 netted a record $270,040, all of which is being distributed to more than 230 children's charities. It is the largest number of charities to benefit from Old Newsboys funds since the campaign was begun in 1957.

The 1988 record total takes the overall fund-raising effort generated by Old Newsboys Day to more than $4 million.

"I'm absolutely elated that this record-breaking sum has allowed us to fund an extremely high percentage of the requests (for funds) that were submitted," said C. Thomas Marschel, president and chief executive officer of the Suburban Journals.

"This total certainly would not have been possible without the thousands of volunteers who manned corners throughout the metropolitan area, the vigorous leadership of our chairman, Bill Maritz, and the corporate support of organizations such as Hardee's Restaurants, Southwestern Bell Telephone Co., UPS and the Cybernet Corporation."

Hardee's supplied aprons and breakfast coupons for volunteers; Southwestern Bell donated the identifying Newsboy badges; UPS delivered kits to volunteers; and Cybernet provided a cellular phone system for seven Journal "hot shot" trucks, which were quickly dispatched to volunteers in need of more Old Newsboys editions.

Advice: Push back tax liability on capital gains

By Sylvia Porter

With the elections becoming a dim memory for most, you may be wondering if tax rates will change in 1989.

While President-elect George Bush has told us that tax rates will not rise, we also have elected a Democratic Congress that has made deficit-cutting a prime priority.

It is conceivable that a "political" compromise will be struck: Increase tax rates on ordinary income, but cut taxes on capital gains. Bush actually has gone on record in support of reducing capital-gains tax rates to as low as 15 percent.

Unlike previous years, capital gains no longer are taxed at a lower rate, but instead are taxed the same as all other income, at effective rates as high as 33 percent.

If you wish to sell property now, but you expect capital gains rates to decline in 1989, you are faced with a dilemma: Should you wait to sell your property until next year and pay less tax, or should you hold onto a "live" buyer and take the money and run?

Even if capital-gains tax rates remain the same, it generally pays to push your tax liability into a future year.

There may be a way to get the best of both worlds, say William B. Rosenberg and Richard A. Klass, authors of the New York firm of Weiner & Co. You can complete the sale immediately, yet have the ability to choose 1988 or 1989 as the year in which your gains are taxed, they say.

You accomplish this by using an installment sale. Generally, an installment sale calls for one or more payments to be received by the seller in the year(s) following the date of the sale.

As a typical example, a seller takes back a mortgage that provides for future payments with interest. If you use an installment sale, you generally are only required to report your gains to the extent that you have received payments. Therefore, if you sell property in December 1988, and will receive all payments in January 1989 or thereafter, there may be no income to report in 1988.

Alternatively, if it later appears that 1988 is the best year for you to report the gain, you are allowed to "elect out" of installment sales treatment, and recognize the entire gain in 1988. This can be done as late as Oct. 15, 1989, with timely filing of your 1988 tax return.

The following example illustrates how an installment sale could work. Assume you own a parcel of land that you purchased 10 years ago for $50,000, and a developer wants to buy it for $50,000.

Also assume that you will close on Dec. 30, 1988, and take back an installment note that requires payment in full of $50,000 on Jan. 2, 1989 (due to the short installment period, we will ignore interest).

If the tax on capital gains is reduced to 15 percent in 1989, the potential savings associated with using this installment method would be as much as $65,000 (from 28 percent down to 15 percent x $50,000 gain).

Even if rates remain the same, you will have the use for another year of $140,000 ($50,000 gain x 28 percent tax) that otherwise would be used to pay taxes in April 1989. These monies invested at 7 percent tax-free would result in earnings of $9,800.

The installment method is not appropriate for all types of property. For instance, it is not permitted for sales of publicly traded securities. However, gains on sales of such securities in 1988 can be deferred into 1989 by various methods of selling securities. Your tax accountant can advise you on this.

Also, there are tax rules that can cause installment sales gains to be taxed now. For example, if you sell the installment note as security for a loan, part of the gain becomes immediately taxable.

Finally, the IRS will charge interest (much of which is non-deductible) on the amount of tax deferred in cases where certain property is sold and the payments on the note exceed $3 million.

While the use of the installment method is "simple" in concept, it is not always easy to apply. It also may not be appropriate, depending on your circumstances.

Since 1988 is slipping by, consult your tax adviser as soon as possible if you are selling property and want to consider this strategy.

Six Flags to hire 2,700

Beginning in January, Six Flags Over Mid-America will be accepting applications for its 1989 host and hostess team.

Each summer the park employs 2,700 in a variety of positions, from operating a world-famous roller coaster or Missouri's largest man-made river to escorting Bugs Bunny and his Looney Tunes friends around the 200-acre theme park.

Six Flags offers flexible hours, including full-time and part-time hours, to people 15 years of age (must be 16 by April 1, 1990) or older, including senior citizens.

Each host and hostess has unlimited use of the park's attractions, receives tickets for family members, and is given the opportunity to participate in various employee incentive programs. There are a variety of park sponsored activities throughout the year, such as athletic competitions, softball tournaments, dances and parties.

Job fairs will be held at the following locations to give interested applicants an opportunity to learn about the various positions offered and participate in an interview:

Saturday, Jan. 7, Crestwood Plaza, 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Starting today, the price of high style hits an all-time low. Before the year's out, save on sensational style from the finest makers. Because we'd rather sell them now than count them later.

Tighter rules for trucks

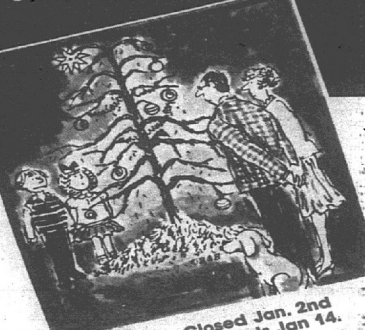

According to Illinois State Police Director Jeremy D. Margolis, trucks operating in commercial zones in Illinois will no longer be exempted from federal motor carrier safety regulations affecting physical qualifications, hours of service for drivers, or recording and keeping of vehicle maintenance records.

Commercial zone areas are established by the Interstate Commerce Commission and allow carriers to transport certain commodities within zone boundaries.

New-county building could cost $25 million

Construction of a new county administration building and renovation of the existing courthouse could cost from $20 million to $25 million, architects told a Madison County Board committee last week.

The figures are preliminary estimates based on county officials' predictions of space requirements.

Committee Chairman Herbert Junior Milton, D-Granite City, said after the meeting it is unlikely the committee would recommend a $25 million project.

Committee members said they would try to come up with recommendations for additions or deletions from the project within two weeks.

The administration building site is north of the courthouse in downtown Edwardsville.

The committee was told the new building would cost an estimated $14.5 million, while the courthouse renovation would cost about $4.5 million. Furnishings, equipment and a parking garage would add about $3 million to the project cost.

The architects said the cost of the project could be reduced by dropping plans to consolidate area court facilities, except those in Granite City and East Alton, in the courthouse.

More money could be saved by dropping plans to locate one or more departments tentatively assigned to the new building.

The architects suggested departments that might be housed elsewhere include the highway, community development and employment/training departments, the regional school superintendent's office, a morgue for the coroner's office and warehouse space for voting machines.

Additions to the project that could increase costs include a $11 emergency dispatching center, centralized vote tabulation facilities, an enclosed passageway from the jail to the courthouse and space for future growth.

The Leo A. Daly firm of St. Louis, in association with the Sheppard, Morgan & Schwaab Inc. engineering firm of Madison County, is the project architect.

Bush sworn in; threatens layoffs

By Bonita Gower-Tillman Staff writer

EAST ST. LOUIS — New Superintendent of Schools Elmo J. Bush was sworn into office Thursday and signed to a $66,500 a year contract for two years.

Bush previously was earning $42,000 a year as principal of the district's Alternative High School.

Former Superintendent Leroy Duckworth, who was fired Dec. 19, earned $71,000 a year. His contract, which does not end until 1991, is to be negotiated by district attorneys.

Shortly after being sworn in, Bush recommended that action taken by the board on Dec. 12, including efforts to cut salaries of administrators and non-certified employees and to require employees to pay insurance for their dependents, be rescinded.

Two other items in the package, reassigning physical education teachers to the classroom and studying other personnel cuts in the spring, were not rescinded.

Despite the board's change of heart, Bush said layoffs in personnel are imminent.

"There's no way to deal with a budget deficit this size without lowering the number of people on the payroll," he said. "We need to reduce payroll, not until it hurts the education of the kids, but we might have to squeeze it, make it tight."

Bush promised the board that he would recommend action that would provide the district with a balanced budget in two years. The district's financial problems have been caught in time and are not "beyond repair," Bush said.

Bush told the board that the district has too many people on its payroll, including teachers, and many could have been laid off three or four years ago.

"You can't just lay people off and not think about it, because they're human. But it's at the point where we either let the kids suffer or lay employees off," he said.

Bush said he also will ask union officials what its members are willing to give up, after the union failed to agree with proposals offered by the board.

The district was certified by the State Board of Education on Dec. 15 as being "in financial difficulty" after deficit budgets were approved for two consecutive years. The district has until Feb. 1 to submit a financial recovery plan to the state, a timetable Bush said will not be difficult to meet.

Bush said he does not find state supervision a problem, and the district should take seriously the help being offered.

"It's not a frightening kind of thing," he said. "The law does not allow someone else to come in and run the board, but we'd be foolhardy and crazy not to take technical help when it's offered."

Seminar Jan. 4 for local 'Superwomen'

For the past few years, magazine articles have warned women about the "Superwoman Syndrome." It happens to women who are trying to have it all: a career, a family and a relationship.

These women often experience stress in their struggle for perfection. Some of the stress can be eliminated and some of it can be effectively dealt with, according to a spokeswoman at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, which is offering to teach women ways they can help the Superwomen in their lives, through a special seminar in SEMC's Health Options For Women (HOW) program.

"The title of the seminar is Superwoman Says No, and whether you are a superwoman yourself or know someone who can 'leap tall buildings' with a baby in one arm and a briefcase in the other, you will enjoy this entertaining and informative seminar," said Charlotte Swanson, HOW coordinator.

The seminar will be held on Wednesday, Jan. 4, from 7 p.m. to 8 p.m. in the Going Strong Wellness Center, 2103 Iowa St., 798-3WELL.

"The program will examine the image of present-day women and the special problems they face," said Swanson.

Superwomen, their family members and friends will learn how to identify the stresses women face when they balance a family and a career. They will also learn techniques to aid in reducing stress.

One of these techniques will be assertiveness training. This is intended to help superwomen learn to say "No!" to requests that act as Kryptonite to drain their emotions.

Public aid office here to have Medicare payment applications

Applications for payment of Medicare premiums are scheduled to be available through local Public Aid offices beginning Jan. 3, State Rep. Ron Stephens, R-Troy, said.

Qualified applicants who meet a certain income threshold will be eligible to have their Medicare premium paid by the Illinois Department of Public Aid as part of a federal program.

"I encourage those who have questions about this program, or who need to know if they qualify, to contact their local Public Aid office," Stephens said.

"The local offices will be able to answer any questions, as well as provide written materials about the program — and applications for it — starting Jan. 3."

Book describes benefits now available to veterans

Although more than $32 billion was paid out in veterans benefits last year, billions more went unclaimed in the past few years, according to Robert Berko, executive director of the Consumer Education Research Center.

Every year eligibility for benefits and the array of available benefits are changed and very few veterans or their survivors keep up with the latest rules, Berko said.

Because of this, and changes in their circumstances, many veterans, their families and survivors are now entitled to money and other benefits from the government even though they were not eligible in the past.

Each year, the Consumer Education Research Center compiles a book describing the latest rules on available benefits and how to qualify for those benefits.

The 192-page "Complete Guide to Federal and State Benefits for Veterans, Their Families, and Survivors" has just been issued.

It contains a foreword by Sen.

Robert Dole and a separate book containing information and forms to obtain marriage, death, divorce and other vital documents needed to substantiate claims have just been issued. This set of two books is $7 (plus $2 for postage and handling) from CERC-Vets, P.O. Box 338, South Orange, N.J. 07075 or by calling 1-800-872-0121 with a credit card.

According to Berko, many survivors of veterans are unaware that they might be eligible to receive money, medical care, educational assistance, help in buying a home or other benefits in fact eligibility and benefits change constantly and some people ineligible in previous years are now able to start receiving money.

The study found that many people are unaware that they are considered dependents or survivors of veterans. These include those involved in illegal marriages, those who remarried after the death or disability of a veteran, children born out of wedlock to a veteran, parents of a veteran and even dependent grandchildren. Any of these may be eligible for benefits.

Berko says that the study questioned veterans about benefits and found that the majority were unfamiliar with most of the benefits now being granted under federal and state laws. Even veterans now collecting were unaware of other benefits for which they were eligible and could be collecting.

For instance, disabled veterans can receive apparel allowances if they use wheel chairs, artificial limbs or any prosthetic device that can wear or damage clothing and, if they have a spouse in need of care, they can receive an allowance to pay someone to provide that care.

Few knew that unemployed veterans 65 or older are considered, permanently and totally disabled and can collect as much as $11,000 a year.

Hartigan offers tips on giving

The holiday season is a time for giving to charitable causes. Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan suggests that precautions be taken to ensure that donations are being made only to legitimate charitable organizations.

"Your gifts can either be highly effective in carrying out a worthwhile charitable program or they can be wasted through mismanagement or even fraud," Hartigan said.

"You can prevent such waste and fraud by taking the time to learn about the nature and operation of the organization asking for your contribution and then giving only to the charities that deserve your confidence and trust."

Hartigan recommends the following precautions when making charitable contributions.

"Don't be fooled by the name of the charity. Some groups will purposely use names similar to known and respected organizations. Occasionally, groups that are not charities will adopt names that lead you to believe they are charities."

"If you are not familiar with an organization, ask for the exact name and location of the organization's headquarters. Find out what programs are conducted in Illinois and elsewhere, and how long these programs have existed. Don't hesitate to ask questions about the purpose of the organization or the identity of the solicitor."

"Ask what percentage of your contribution will be used for the cost of fund raising and administration and what percentage will go toward the actual programs or research."

"Find out whether your contribution is tax-deductible. Generally, all legitimate charities provide tax-deductible status."

"Be wary of any solicitor who is not willing or able to supply you with the information you are seeking."

"It is always a good idea to write a check instead of giving cash, especially when making a large donation. A legitimate charity organization will accept checks. The check should always be made payable to the charity, never the solicitor."

"Be wary of high-pressure tactics. Don't be afraid to say no or that you want time to think it over. You may want to take the literature and decide at your leisure if that charity is one you want to support."

"When receiving a solicitation by phone, you should ask the same questions you would if you were approached in person. You should also ask the caller if he or she is a volunteer or paid staff person. If the caller is being paid, you may want to consider the fact that part of your contribution will be spent on a telemarketing operation and less will go for the actual purpose of the charity. Instead of making an immediate commitment, ask the caller to send you literature describing the nature of the charity."

Newsboys

"The Cybernet phones helped greatly with logistics and allowed us to sell many more newspapers," Marschel said.

"The sale of those additional papers was extremely important in reaching our record total."

Maritz, chief executive officer of Maritz Inc., said he "could not be more pleased that we set an all-time high in contraband services."

"I thoroughly enjoyed being chairman. It was great fun and the people I met and worked with were absolutely wonderful."

Maritz's strongest memory of Old Newsboys Day is of U.S. Olympic field hockey team member Mary Kobold, of Greve Coeur, a volunteer with the KSDK-TV (Channel 5) news crew at 10th and Market streets downtown.

"As I passed the corner I saw this very attractive lady, dressed in a white running outfit, who was the most energetic Old Newsboy I've ever seen," Maritz said.

"She was darting in and out of traffic, knocking on windshields, doing everything she could to sell the heck out of the special Old Newsboys edition of the Suburban Journals, so I stopped, introduced myself and paid her $100 for a newspaper."

"To me, she represented exactly what the spirit of Old Newsboys Day was all about. Any time you can do anything in business or to better the community—and have it be fun—you're miles ahead of the game."

For a complete list of children's agencies that will benefit from Old Newsboys funds, see page 7C of this issue.

Three arrested after robbery

MADISON — A strong-arm robbery outside Schermer's Super Market in the 1100 block of Madison Avenue resulted in the arrest of a 17-year-old youth and two juveniles.

Algie Orville Ingram, 17, of 205 Watson Street, Eagle Park, was charged with robbery and theft from a person in a felony information issued through the Madison County State's Attorney's Office.

Lorna Frances Schultz of Glasgow Village, Mo., was knocked to the ground at 7:30 p.m. Dec. 20 as she was coming out of the supermarket and her purse was forcibly taken from her, according to Police Lt. Paul Bargiel. The victim sustained bruises and abrasions. The purse and its contents were valued at $100.

A Granite City man heard someone calling for help and saw Schultz lying on the ground between two cars. He went to her aid and police were called. Ingram and two juveniles, 15 and 16 years old, were seen by Venice Police Sgt. Birl Reed, who took them into custody at Second Street and Washington Avenue, Venice.

Juvenile petitions were obtained by Madison police and the two boys were transferred to the Madison County Detention Center in Edwardsville.

Labor-management programs funded

The Labor-Management Committee of the Leadership Council Southwestern Illinois has been awarded a Fiscal Year 1989 grant under the Illinois Labor-Management Matching Grant Program in the amount of $30,748.

It is the fourth grant for operating expenses received by the committee under this program.

Activities of the committee since 1985 have included sponsoring a network and providing support for Southwestern Illinois in-plant labor-management committees (employee involvement); sponsoring the creation of a curriculum unit on labor-management cooperation for use in area high schools; and several publications, a videotape and conferences on labor-management cooperation topics.

The Labor-Management Committee was formed in 1983 for the basic purpose of bringing the unified strengths of labor and management together to develop an atmosphere in Southwestern Illinois which will bring about the expansion and retention of existing businesses and which will prove helpful in bringing new business to the area.

The Area Labor-Management Committee is made up of equal numbers of labor and management representatives.

Its co-chairmen are George Machino of Operating Engineers Local 635 and Daniel Magruder of the Council of Owners and Construction Associates.

The matching grant program, administered by the Illinois Department of Commerce and Community Affairs on behalf of the Illinois Labor-Management Cooperation Committee appointed by the governor, awarded $297,500 for FY 1989 to help 11 area labor-management cooperation committees in Illinois.

Cold-shooting Lady Warriors fall in 1st round to Wesclin

By Gary King
Staff writer

MASCOUTAH — The gun is loaded. The bullets are in place. The trigger works. Now all the Lady Warriors have to do is figure out why they keep shooting blanks.

The Warrior offensive attack was again low-caliber in Monday's opening round of the Mascoutah Holiday Tournament. As a result, the Granite City Went dropped a 48-41 decision to a very beatable Wesclin squad. The second-most crucial set of numbers in the Mascoutah Gymnasium — secondary only to those on the scoreboard — were those in the Warrior box score. Out of 60 shots taken, the Lady Warriors sunk only 16 (27 percent). They also committed 25 turnovers.

No matter how you slice it, the low-shooting percentage, high-turnover combination is hardly a sure-fire ticket to victories.

"We just missed too many shots and made too many mistakes," said Warrior coach John Hitchings, whose team dropped to 3-5 with the loss and was to play Collinsville at 11 a.m. Tuesday in the consolation bracket. "You can't expect to win a ballgame when you're turning the ball over that many times."

Game 14: Wesclin vs. Mount Vernon, 6 p.m.
Game 15: Belleville East vs. Centralia, 7:30 p.m.

The Warriors played more like the team they want to be early in the contest as center Jennifer Cavness poured in eight of her game-high 19 points early in the first quarter to help Granite City take a quick 10-9 edge.

But Wesclin capitalized on a slew of Granite City turnovers in the second quarter and managed to take a 26-22 lead into the half-time intermission.

A pair of Kim Pawlak three-pointers and a quick steal and of play, the Warriors pulled a late fade which saw them spot Wescinn five quick points with six minutes remaining. Despite a three-pointer from Pawlak, who scored 12 points, and a pair of buckets from Cavanes, the Warriors drew no closer than four points for the rest of the game.

"We've got to improve our shooting percentage," said Hutchings. "For some, shot selection is becoming a real problem. We need to be more patient and push the ball inside."

"We just hurried things too much today. Wescinn's press didn't look that tough, but we just didn't get there when they gave us the opening. I guess what it boils down to is that Wescinn got us from behind because they hustled. A few times we got outstuffed, and when you stand still, they'll take the ball away from you."

The Warriors will be without the services of starting forward Michelle Bequette, who is temporarily ineligible until next Tuesday. Bequette's presence was certainly missed Monday, as much of the inside burden fell upon Cavanes (15 rebounds) and Meyenburg (seven rebounds). Karen Sykes, starting in place of Bequette, scored two points and came up with some clutch steals. Point guard Adrienne Lenzi also chipped in two points.

"I think having Bequette out of the lineup hurt us a little on the boards," Hutchings said. "Jennifer is putting a lot of pressure on herself. She knows she's our big person in the middle, and when she misses a shot she's really self-critical. She just has to relax."

"We've just got to work some things out right now, but we've got the tools. I think we'll be all right down the road."

Champagne offers simple entertainment

By Lynn Venhaus
Staff affiliate

Victor Lazlo always ordered a champagne cocktail at Rick's Cafe American in "Casablanca." Alexis Carrington wouldn't think of drinking anything else with her Beluga caviar when she dines on "Dynasty."

Once the symbol of affluence and special occasions, champagne has become a frequent part of simple entertaining. Still a festive part of birthdays, marriages, business triumphs, sporting victories, friendships and romance, the stuff of celebrations is a must on New Year's Eve.

Because of champagne's mystique, the following information, garnered from wine experts and wineries, helps set the record straight on how to chill, serve, store, pour and pop open champagne. Some background information is offered as well.

•To chill a bottle of champagne quickly and easily, place it in a wine or ice bucket, half-filled with ice and water, and leave for 30 minutes. This will save refrigerator space and chill the wine faster. Otherwise, store bottle in the refrigerator for approximately one hour. Never attempt to chill champagne in the freezer — the bottle could explode.

•To keep several bottles chilled, place champagne in a large tub or container, spread plenty of ice cubes around each bottle and partially fill with cold water. Wipe each bottle dry to prevent slippage while serving.

•The French government decreed in a 1927 law that only sparkling wines made from grapes grown on 80,000 acres in a small district east of Paris can be designated Champagne in France.

•A bottle of real champagne will have the name printed on the cork to guarantee authenticity. The label will say "Produce of France" and the name of the city in which it was bottled. Anything else is an imposter, the French say.

•Why is champagne so expensive? The painstaking and labor-intensive method used to make champagne is the reason. Grapes are harvested by pickers who live at the winery as long as the harvest lasts, usually about 10 days. The grapes are handpicked and brought to the press in large wicker baskets.

A GENEROUS BOWL of sparkly Bubbling Punch on the table issues a welcome greeting the moment guests walk through the door.

Punch packs wallop for New Year's Eve

Bubbling Punch adds an extra special touch to any holiday gathering, particularly one where wishes are extended for a wonderful new year.

The base is simple. Refreshing pineapple juice balances perfectly with tart and sweet, whether it is mixed with sparkling apple juice or champagne.

It is the fruit-studded ice mold though that stars here. The mold is a combination of pineapple juice and fruit poured in a ring shape. Pineapple chunks, sliced orange, strawberries and sprigs of mint are suspended in the liquid for a colorful frozen wreath. To unmold, run quickly under warm water.

Another perfect way to present a New Year's toast is with Iced Apple Pie. Fill a wine glass or goblet with cider and ice. Add a splash of apple brandy for a quick topper.

For a light refreshing "diet" drink, let guests mix pineapple juice with diet lemon-lime soda in their own ideal proportions. If they want a hint, suggest they start with half of each. Garnish with wedge of fresh lime.

Bubbling punch

- 5 cups pineapple juice
- 1 bottle (24 oz.) sparkling apple juice or champagne
- 1 can (20 oz.) pineapple chunks
- 1 orange, sliced, quartered
- 1 pt. strawberries or bottled maraschino cherries
- Mint sprigs

Chill juice and champagne. Combine in punch bowl. Float ice mold when ready to serve.

Makes 8 to 9 cups.
Ice Mold: Combine undrained pineapple, oranges, strawberries and mint in 6-cup mold. Add enough water or juice to fill. Freeze.

Turkey still highly regarded for mistletoe meals, parties

Turkey remains a festive tradition throughout the winter holidays. It is not only delicious, but offers a nutritious low-fat entrée amid the rich abundance of holiday foods.

Plan on a large turkey if leftovers for delicious turkey sandwiches and casseroles are anticipated. Allowing at least one pound per person when buying a turkey usually will allow sufficient leftovers.

If the turkey is fresh, purchase it no longer than two days before cooking and store on the coldest shelf of a refrigerator. Frozen turkeys are best thawed by allowing them to defrost in refrigerator two to three days before cooking time.

For many people, the stuffing that goes so well with turkey is one of the most popular parts of a holiday meal. It will be as low in fat and healthful as the turkey by cooking it separately. That way it will not absorb fat from the cooking meat and will come out light and thoroughly cooked. Defatted pan drippings can be sprinkled on the dressing to keep it as moist as desired.

To roast a turkey without stuffing inside, simply rub the inside with salt, if desired, and place slices of onion, a celery stalk with leaves and a sprig of parsley inside to help flavor the meat. Remember that an unstuffed turkey takes slightly less time to cook than a stuffed bird.

Roast the turkey on a rack so fats drip off. Use a meat thermometer to measure doneness. It should read 185° when it is ready.

The American Institute for Cancer Research recommends choosing whole grain products as one way to include more fiber in the diet. Using whole wheat bread as the basis for a stuffing recipe is one way to do that. The following recipe provides not only the fiber of whole wheat, but also the vitamin C and beta-carotene from fruits.

Apricot-orange stuffing

- 1/2 cup diced dried apricots
- 1 cup orange juice
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 1/2 cup chopped onion

- 6 slices whole wheat bread, cut in 1 inch cubes
- 1 tbsp. margarine
- 1 tsp. thyme
- 1 tsp. sage
- Pepper to taste

In small bowl, soak apricots in 1/2 cup orange juice. Steam celery and onion in 1 cup water in large skillet or saucepan until tender.

Add margarine, thyme, sage and pepper to cooked vegetables in pan. Stir until mixture is well blended. Add bread cubes and apricots with soaking juice, tossing well and stirring in remaining 1/2 cup orange juice. Cook mixture over very low heat 5 to 15 minutes, stirring occasionally.

More orange juice can be added for more moistness. One almond also will contribute additional crunch, although they quickly increase fat.

Yields 4 servings, 5 gm. fat and 195 calories per 1/4-cup serving.

Registered dietitian Karen Collins reviews this material for the American Institute for Cancer Research, Washington, D.C.

FILL THE HALLS with the aroma of tempting turkey.

Set an elegant tabletop

For the season for entertaining with elegance. Informality may reign the rest of the year, but the holidays call for something special.

Elegant holiday menus can be surprisingly easy to create, without straining budgets or requiring long hours in the kitchen. One time-tested approach is to give a simple entree the red carpet treatment with a flavored side dish like wild rice. Add a bright vegetable or two and the menu is complete.

Next time the party setting stays home, set the table for merry-making by staging a special recipe.

Branded Beef Tenderloin with Fennel Wild Rice is a full-flavored salute to the season. To prepare, beef tenderloin is sautéed and topped with a lively sauce combining cream, Dijon mustard and Worcestershire sauce with a splash of brandy.

Branded beef tenderloin With Fennel Wild Rice

- 2½ cups water
- 2 tbsp. butter or margarine
- 1 pkg. (6 oz.) long grain and wild rice
- 5 beef tenderloin filets, cut 1 inch thick (about 1½ to 2 lb.)
- 1 tsp. freshly cracked black pepper
- ½ cup brandy
- ½ cup whipping cream
- 1 tsp. Dijon mustard
- 1 tsp. tomato paste
- 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
- 2 cups coarsely chopped fennel or celery (about 1 large bulb)
- 3 tbsp. toasted pine nuts, if desired
- 1 tsp. chopped fennel leaves or celery leaves
- ½ cup chopped red bell pepper

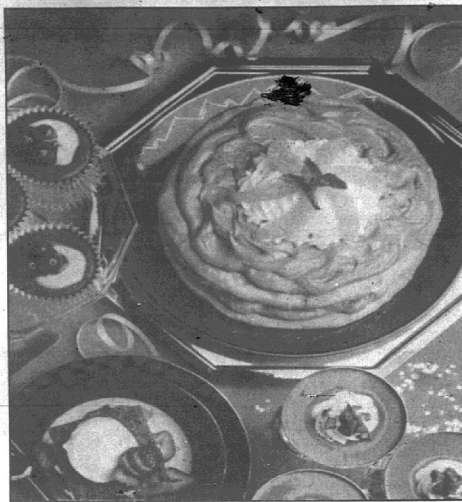

Combine water, 1 tablespoon butter and contents of rice and seasoning packets in saucepan. Bring to boil. Cover tightly. Simmer 18 minutes.

Sprinkle meat with pepper. Melt remaining 1 tablespoon butter in large skillet over medium-high heat. Add meat. Cook 3 to 4 minutes per side for medium-rare. Remove to serving platter and keep warm.

Add brandy to skillet. Cook and stir 1 minute. Add cream, mustard, tomato paste and Worcestershire sauce. Continue cooking until sauce is desired thickness, stirring occasionally.

After rice has simmered 18 minutes, stir in fennel. Continue simmering until all water is absorbed, about 7 minutes.

Pour sauce over meat. Sprinkle with fennel leaves. Stir red pepper into rice. Sprinkle with pine nuts. Serve alongside meat. Makes 6 servings.

A HOLIDAY FEAST should be simple, elegant and uncomplicated to prepare and enjoy.

Make New Year's Eve treat with traditional oyster stew

Rich, buttery oyster stew is a timeless tradition that can be made in less than 30 minutes. This recipe shows how oyster stew always can be made with rich ingredients, no shortcuts, yet be simple and great.

Creamy oyster stew became a holiday tradition because of the practice of serving fish for the last meal after the Advent fast. At Union Oyster House, the oldest restaurant in Boston and the oldest restaurant in continuous operation in the United States, the recipe is easy to follow. Just saute oysters in butter, add cream and heat it through.

To prepare it at home, look for oysters live in the shell, shucked, frozen or canned. Those in the shell, usually sold by the dozen or half-dozen, should be live when purchased. The shell should close tightly when handled.

Unless there is an experienced shucker in the house, let the market do it. Select shucked oysters that are plump and have a natural creamy color. The liquid should be clear and constitute only 10 percent of the total weight. Keep oysters in shell in the refrigerator seven to 10 days.

The procedure for making broth is as simple as making a cream sauce. A butter and flour mixture or other starch thickener stabilizes the milk and cream.

Oyster stew

- 1/2 cup butter
- 1 1/2 cups sliced fresh mushrooms
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1 tsp. salt
- 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce

- 1/2 tsp. white pepper
- 1 pt. shucked oysters
- 4 cups milk, scalded
- 2 cups light cream or half-and-half
- Lemon slices
- Chopped fresh parsley

Melt butter over low heat. Add mushrooms and onion. Sauté until tender, 3 to 5 minutes. Stir in flour, salt, Worcestershire sauce and pepper. Cook until bubbly.

Stir in oysters and their liquid. Add milk. Cook until simmering and oyster edges curl. Stir in cream. Heat through.

Remove from heat. Garnish each serving with a lemon slice. Sprinkle with chopped parsley. Serve immediately.

Makes 8 servings; 311 calories, 11 gm. protein, 24 gm. fat, 15 gm. carbohydrate each.

Smiths don't come up short when stopping for their 1989 wishes

By Janice Denham
Food editor

Probably a home run wish any baseball wife could make for the new year is to be able to stay in a town she calls home, where her husband recently opened a restaurant, and have a healthy and happy season.

All these are Denise Smith's hopes for 1989, along with the joy of spending time in the kitchen cooking for her trio of hearty eaters—Ozzie, O.J. and Dustin. "During the season I get a lot of opportunity to cook because whenever Ozzie is at home I make sure he eats home-cooked foods. He eats out whenever he is on the road. I don't mind cooking as long as the person eating it enjoys it," she says.

And during the holiday season they have plenty of family that gets together to celebrate, too.

"We love to cook and eat over the holidays. It's wonderful to have this holiday during the off-season. Otherwise, it would be just like any other holiday like the Fourth of July that we don't observe. The last four years we have had people come to visit us."

For New Year's Eve or New Year's Day she will fix Sausage Pastries, fast becoming one of her favorites because they are quick and easy to prepare. They are a good project for Denise and 6-year-old O.J. or Dustin, who will be 2 in January.

"It's something the kids can help you with," she says. "You don't work with anything sharp. You just need two cookie cutters."

A native of Austin, Denise says her style of cooking is more southern than Tex-Mex. Her regular repertoire includes family-sounding casseroles like shepherd's pie and meatloaf and other ground beef recipes, macaroni cheese and "chicken anything."

Of course, New Year's dinner will be special with ham, potato salad, green beans, candied yams "if somebody has a whim for them," fresh corn from the cob fried with butter and sugar, and homemade rolls. There will be red beans and rice, as well as cornbread. When it comes to eating black-eyed peas for luck, Denise will eat her obligatory two, just as she has done since she was a little girl, "because it still isn't my favorite thing."

Denise Smith's sausage pastries

- 2 cups flour
- 1 cup butter, softened
- 2 (8 oz. each) pkg. cream cheese, softened
- 1/2 tsp. salt
- 1 lb. pork sausage (Jimmy Dean regular is her preference)

Thoroughly combine flour, butter, cream cheese and salt. On floured surface, roll dough one-eighth inch thick, slightly thicker than pie crust.

Using 3-inch diameter round cookie cutter, cut out pastry. Put 1 teaspoon sausage in center. Fold pastry in half, pinching together edges with fork.

Place on ungreased cookie sheet with four sides. Bake at 350° until lightly brown, about 20 minutes. When done, sprinkle with paprika.

Yields about 36 pastries.

Old-fashioned fresh pear pie

1/2 cup plus 1 tbs. sugar
1/2 cup flour
1/2 tsp. mace
1/2 tsp. cinnamon
11 fresh medium pears, pared (if desired), sliced
— Pastry for 9 inch double crust pie
1 tbs. butter or margarine
1 egg white

Stir 1/2 cup sugar with flour, mace and cinnamon. Mix with pears so all slices are coated. Divide pastry dough in half. Roll half on floured board. Place in 9-inch pie pan. Moisten edge with water. Turn pears into pie pan. Dot with butter. Cover with top crust. Crimp edges.

Brush pastry with egg whites. Sprinkle with 1 tablespoon sugar. Cut 4 slits in top to allow steam to escape.

Bake on low shelf in 450° oven 25 minutes. It may be necessary to wrap edge of pie with foil if it starts to get too dark. Reduce oven temperature to 375°. Bake additional 20 minutes.

For best results, allow pie to cool at least to lukewarm before cutting.

Makes 8 servings.

2 tbs. minced onion
2 tbs. chopped red bell pepper

Dissolve gelatin in boiling broth. Chill until thickened.

Fold in chicken, pineapple, grapes, onion and pepper.

Pour into 4-cup serving dish or 9-by-5 inch loaf pan. Chill until firm, at least 3 hours.

Cut in squares or scoop with spoon. Serve with crisp salad greens. Garnish with green pepper rings, parsley, radish roses or carrot curls, if desired.

Makes about 4 cups or four (1-cup) servings; 170 calories, 21 gm. protein, 9 gm. carbohydrate, 5 gm. fat and 100 mg. sodium each. Exchanges: 2 1/2 lean meat, 1/4 fruit.

1/2 tsp. ginger
1/2 tsp. cayenne pepper
1 cup chopped tomato
1 cup chopped cucumber
1/2 cup chopped parsley
1 tbs. lemon juice
4 pocket breads, halved
— Alfalfa sprouts

In bowl, mix 1 cup yogurt, curry, cumin, coriander, ginger and cayenne pepper. Add chicken. Stir to coat. Cover. Refrigerate at least 1 hour.

Thread chicken on 8 skewers. Broil 4 to 6 inches from heat 3 to 4 minutes. Turn and cook 3 to 4 minutes longer or until meat is no longer pink when cut.

Stir together remaining 1/2 cup yogurt, tomato, cucumber, parsley and lemon juice.

OLD NEWSBOYS

$270,040 Is Record Children's Lives Are Enriched By Donors

By Lucynn Boston
Journal Staff Writer

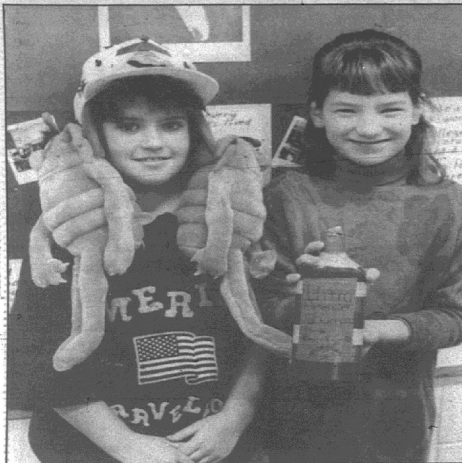

St. Louis area residents who volunteered to be Old Newsboys rose before dawn Nov. 17 and bundled up to stand with a warm heart on cold, windy street corners and hawk the special edition of the Suburban Journals.
For those who purchased the special edition, Old Newsboys Day meant a festive occasion that heralds the holiday season. It is a friendly wave and a thank you from the vendor who might have been a member of a service organization, a charitable group, a high school athletic team or worked for a corporation with a generous spirit and a willingness to give its employees time off to help kids.

It also meant a warm feeling in people's hearts from knowing that whether they contributed dollars or dimes, every cent they gave went directly to local children's charities.
For the 230-plus charities that benefited from this year's Old Newsboys campaign, however, the record $270,040.71 total means more tangible things. It translates into physical therapy equipment that helps disabled children learn to walk, educational toys that make the functions of daily life less complicated for mentally retarded youngsters, books that provide an educational boost for kids whose reading skills need reinforcement and special machines that help deaf children speak.

Granite City High wins speech tournament

A combined effort by the Granite City High School debate and individual events speech teams brought home the third place sweepstakes trophy at the annual Southern Illinois University speech tournament recently held at the Carbondale campus.

The debate team produced two tournament champions. Chris Robeson won first in the traditional Lincoln-Douglas debate division. Steve Friedel won first in the experimental Lincoln-Douglas debate division. Friedel also won third place in the traditional division and Lisa Niemeyer placed sixth in that division. The debaters are coached by Ron Pennell.

In the varsity division, David Malotki won a third place trophy in humorous interpretation and second place trophies went to Kelly Kessler in original comedy and Lisabeth Lyons in declamation. The individual events team is coached by Beverley Scroggins.

Living proof that seatbelts work

This year Cody Scerine celebrated his first birthday. He was born two days after his mother and grandmother involved in a serious automobile accident.

On May 21, 1987, Diann Scerine and her daughter, LeAnn, who was nine months pregnant, were hit in a head-on collision. Both were wearing seatbelts.

Because LeAnn chose to wear her seatbelt, she saved her life, and was able to deliver a healthy baby boy.

cuckoo. n. eccentric. crazy: irrational. 1. A insane, foolish.

Do you have names for people you don't understand?

Crazy. Lunatic. Crackpot. Psycho. Nuts. Slurs like these hide our fear of mental illness. Advertisements hawking "insane prices" and "midnight madness sales" merely reflect our scorn. Derogatory language does something else, too. It keeps us from seeing mental illness for what it really is: a distressing medical disease. A disease that afflicts over 35 million Americans.

But the stigma of mental illness keeps most of those afflicted from seeking help. Which is tragic. Because today there's more hope than ever. Medical science understands more about the dynamics of mental illness and has discovered new drugs and better therapies to treat it.

In fact, today, 2 out of 3 people who get help go on to lead productive lives. For an informative booklet about mental illness, contact the American Mental Health Fund.
